Life insurance that knows you really appreciate those ‘table for two’ nights.

With a Survivorship Indexed Universal Life (SIUL) policy, you can protect yourself and another person — whether that be a spouse, domestic partner or even business partner. And since the income-tax-free death benefit is paid after the second death, your SIUL policy may actually cost less than two comparable individual policies.

What you may not know is that protection is just one of many advantages of having an SIUL policy. Your policy also accumulates cash value that you can use during your lifetime, for any reason.¹ So there’s something in it for you, too.

¹Accessing cash value will reduce your policy death benefit and values, may result in certain fees and charges and may require additional premium payments to maintain coverage.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Death benefit protection</th>
<th>Your policy’s death benefit is paid to your beneficiaries income-tax-free and probate-free, after the second death.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Estate planning</td>
<td>You can incorporate your death benefit into your estate planning strategy, and structure it to serve a variety of purposes — such as helping to support your family for many years to come or preserving your assets so a loved one with special lifetime needs can continue to receive ongoing care.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Estate preservation</td>
<td>You can specifically structure your death benefit to help pay estate taxes, so there is less estate tax erosion on your other assets. That means your loved ones will get more of what you’ve worked so hard to build.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash value for you</td>
<td>Your policy grows cash value that you can access at any time, for any reason — and, in most cases, income-tax-free. For example, you can use it to start a business, pay for a child’s college education or supplement your retirement income. For an extra boost, your policy also includes an enhancement feature that guarantees positive crediting every year, regardless of how your indexed account(s) perform.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cash value growth your way</td>
<td>You have a choice of accumulation options, including six indexed accounts that earn interest based on changes in the performance of the S&amp;P 500® Index between two points in time (what we call a segment period) — providing market-based growth potential without the risk of losing value due to poor market performance. As your needs evolve over time, you can change your accumulation choices.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

1Accessing cash value will reduce your policy death benefit and values, may result in certain fees and charges, and may require additional premium payments to maintain coverage. Ask your financial professional for additional information about accessing your cash value, including the potential impact on coverage guarantees and certain circumstances under which the values you access could be taxable. You should always consult your tax advisor prior to accessing your policy’s cash value.

2S&P 500 performance excludes dividends. You may change your accumulation options at the end of any segment (growth) period. An index is a representation of a stock market sector. It is not possible to invest directly into an index.
Let’s talk about the ‘indexed’ in ‘Survivorship Indexed Universal Life.’

Your indexed account options allow you to take advantage of market-based growth potential, but unlike investing directly into the market, your policy will never lose value due to poor index performance. It works like this:

1. When you pay your premiums, you choose which indexed account(s) you would like to allocate your premiums to. It’s important to know that your decision isn’t permanent — you can change your account options at the end of any segment period.

2. Your account(s) earn interest based on changes in the S&P 500 Index from the beginning to the end of the segment period.
   - When index performance is positive at the end of the segment period, your account(s) are credited interest based on indexed account performance.
   - When indexed account performance is zero or negative at the end of the segment period, your account(s) won’t lose value because of it — we guarantee it.

3. At the end of each segment period:
   - Your credited interest is locked in and won’t be at risk if index performance is poor in the future.
   - You can keep your policy values in the same accounts or move all or some of your policy values to any of the available indexed or fixed accounts, if you like.

You’ve heard of the S&P 500 — but what is it, exactly?
The S&P 500 tracks the performance of 500 large-cap U.S. stocks from various industries and is widely considered the best gauge of the U.S. stock market.

More information about your indexed account options can be found in the Survivorship IUL Cash Value Accumulation brochure.
Personalize your protection to fit you.

With Survivorship IUL’s selection of riders, you can customize your policy to meet your specific needs — because there’s no such thing as one-size-fits-all when it comes to life insurance.¹

Some riders are automatically included with your policy, at no upfront cost. Other riders are optional, and can be added to your policy for an additional cost. It’s a good idea to talk to your financial professional about the different ways our riders may help with the following concerns or any others.

- Getting an extra measure of security in the event of a serious illness
- Providing coverage to key employees if you’re a business owner
- Having the ability to exchange your policy for two individual policies in the event of divorce or changes to certain estate tax laws
- Losing coverage due to outstanding policy loans
- Helping to ensure your death benefit keeps pace with inflation

Your financial professional can talk more in detail about your built-in and optional riders, and work with you to decide which ones may make sense for you.

¹Built-in and optional riders may be subject to eligibility and underwriting requirements, additional premium requirements and/or minimum or maximum coverage amounts. Availability and provisions may vary by state.
Disclosures

All guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of the issuer.

Survivorship Indexed Universal Life (Policy form ICC22-PI-IALJ) is a last-survivor indexed universal life insurance policy issued by The Penn Insurance and Annuity Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company. Policy form numbers may vary by state. Products and features may not be available in all states. This product is not offered in New York.

The "S&P 500 Index" is a product of S&P Dow Jones Indices LLC or its affiliates ("SPDJI") and has been licensed for use by The Penn Insurance and Annuity Company. S&P®, S&P 500®, US 500, The 500, iBoxx®, iTraxx® and CDX® are trademarks of S&P Global, Inc. or its affiliates ("S&P"); Dow Jones® is a registered trademark of Dow Jones Trademark Holdings LLC ("Dow Jones"). This product is not sponsored, endorsed, sold or promoted by SPDJI, Dow Jones, S&P, their respective affiliates and none of such parties make any representation regarding the advisability of investing in such product(s) nor do they have any liability for any errors, omissions, or interruptions of the S&P 500 Index.

Any reference to the taxation of the product in this material is based on the issuing company’s understanding of current tax laws. The issuing company and its representatives do not provide tax or legal advice. Please consult your tax advisor regarding your personal situation.

This product: is not a deposit or guaranteed by any bank or savings institution; is not insured by the FDIC or any federal government agency; may go down in value due to policy charges but will not go down due to index performance.

This material is intended to provide an overview of the product or concept described. All information, including product features, availability, rates and other provisions is believed to be accurate as of September 2022 and is subject to change.